

ANNA CHURCH

SCULPTOGRAPHER

Blurred Lines - Preservation

Anna Church annadaltonchurch@gmail.com www.annachurchart.com

ANNA CHURCH

SCULPTOGRAPHER

Large

Large (unframed) 32 x 40 inch - Edition of 20

- Fine Art Limited Edition Print
- Printed on archival Fine Art Paper
- Accompanied by a hand-signed certificate of authenticity
- Please note: Price may increase as limited edition run closes

Framing options available

Mural

Mural (unframed) 42 x 52.5 inch - Edition of 10

- Fine Art Limited Edition Print
- Printed on archival Fine Art Paper
- Accompanied by a hand-signed certificate of authenticity
- Please note: Price may increase as limited edition run closes

Framing options available

ANNA CHURCH

SCULPTOGRAPHER

In-situ

ANNA CHURCH

SCULPTOGRAPHER

Behind the scenes

With every season, nature shows us another side of its beauty.

This piece has been created to help us reflect (yup, this pun is totally intended), on hope, hope that we can Preserve our planet's wonder, its seasonal changes and eclipsing ecological beauty.

The floral language is a positive message, traditionally welcomed throughout many eras and cultures. The gifts of blooms, plants and specific floral arrangements communicate positive unspoken feelings.

When I started this piece I wanted to create something of beauty for myself but ultimately my end fruition turned into something I would love to share with you.

2020 has brought so much uncertainty and heartache but with it an acute awareness of social and environmental issues. Within this juncture over these past few months, we've witnessed real cause for reflection. And found reassurance that, together protecting and preserving nature and humanity is achievable if arranged and executed together.

I hope you enjoy responding to this piece as much as I enjoyed creating it.

For further enquiries, please email: annadaltonchurch@gmail.com